PREMIER OF ULSTER TO JOIN IN CONFERENCE

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, has accepted the government's invitation, dispatched yesterday, to come to London and consult with it as to Ulster's attitude toward the proposals regarding the Ulster Boundary and other questions involved in the Irish settlement.

Sir James, it is stated, is coming to London to discuss specific plans, submitted to the government by the Sinn Féin of such a character that the government thinks them feasible if Ulster agrees to them. The plans do not, however, embody an agreement definitely reached between the government and the Sinn Féin.

The Ulster Premier has said throughout that he would not intervene until such an agreement was reached but has now consented to discuss the provisional proposal.

Five Perish In Fire In Toledo

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 3.—A mother and four children, three girls and a boy, were burned to death when fire destroyed the fruit store and apartment of Wolf Greenburg shortly after six o'clock this morning.

The dead are Mrs. Greenburg, the mother, Eva 15, Anna 13, Leah 9, and David 6. Those who escaped are the father, three sons, Nathan 28, Isadore 12, Charles 17, and one daughter, Sarah 10. The fire was discovered when Isadore was aroused by dense smoke in his room. He carried his sister Sarah to safety and then awakened his father and two brothers, but the flames had gained such headway that it was impossible to enter the room on the second floor in which the mother and the other two children were sleeping.

GIRL'S GREATEST GIFTS ALL BELONG TO HER

MARJORIE PATTERSON, ACTRESS AND AUTHOR

BY ALICE ROBE
NEW YORK, November 3.—What is the greatest gift a girl may have—beauty, brains, youth, health, money, ancestry, family position, great genius?

What if one didn't have to choose, but had all of these?

Well, this is the lot of one of the most interesting young women in New York.

She is Marjorie Patterson, actress and author, the great-grand-niece of Betsy Patterson, whose marriage to Jerome Bonaparte, young brother of Napoleon, started off international marriages with a romance that has made present-day alliances with reigning royal families quite commonplace by comparison.

But although Miss Patterson pours tea from an ancient silver tea set brought over from Ireland by Betsy Patterson's father, and sits in Betsy Patterson's chair, and sleeps in Betsy Patterson's bed, she thinks the real aim of life is giving expression to her

PASSENGER TRAIN IS DERAILED ON PENNSY

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 3.—Seventeen persons were injured, none of them seriously, when a Pennsylvania passenger train number 901, bound from Columbus to Sandusky, Ohio, was derailed at Lewis Center, near here, at seven o'clock this morning.

The engine left the rails and one coach was upset. The injured were brought to Columbus.

A broken rail was the cause of the derailment, according to Pennsylvania officials here.

NEED MORE PRACTICE

ROME, November 3.—Count Pietro Rusconi and Lieutenant Alibelli, recently engaged in a duel that is believed to have set the record for small gun practice. They faced each other and began hostilities which continued until they had exchanged 75 rounds, neither having suffered damage.

At last their seconds and the surgeon in attendance interfered and stopped the fusillade.

The two men before retiring, declared themselves reconciled.

Big Ship On Fire At Sea

HALIFAX, November 3.—A large vessel, the identity of which is unknown, is on fire four hundred miles southeast of Halifax, according to a wireless received today by the Canadian Naval Department from the British Old Tanker Saxline.

SENATOR OFFERS TO SUBMIT PROOF THAT AMERICAN SOLDIERS WERE HUNG WITHOUT TRIAL

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 3.—Letters and telegrams from persons offering to submit proof of charges that American soldiers overseas were hanged without trial were presented in the senate today by Senator Watson, Democrat, Georgia, whose presentation of the original charges in the senate several days ago, resulted in an appointment of a committee of investigation.

One of the telegrams, Senator Watson said, was from a former major in the army and said he could "assist in substantiating the charges." Another from a resident of Philadelphia offered to give two photographs similar to that presented recently by Senator Watson as showing a gallows. The Philadelphia whose name was not made public by the Georgia senator, said he saw hanging on the Meuse, the body of a negro in uniform, and could supply "positive proof of the hanging." The correspondent did not say whether the hanging was after a court martial or not.

In presenting his documents, Senator Watson with much show of feeling, clashed with several senators and was rebuffed by Vice President Coolidge that he should "proceed in order" and observe senate rules. The vice president intervened when Senator Watson referred to Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, directly without use of the usual term "the Senator from New Hampshire."

Senator Watson asked for insertion in the congressional record of photographs of alleged hangings in the American Expeditionary forces published in a New Jersey newspaper and Senator Moses, chairman of the printing committee, did not permit publication of photographs when he was cut off by Mr. Watson who declared the objection was "cowardly."

The Georgia senator again attacked Senator Wadsworth, Republican, New York, who first called the senate's attention to Senator Watson's charges.

"It is only a few hours," said Mr. Watson, "since I was put on the rack, in a most brutal manner, by the associate of William Barnes, a crook."

Senator Wadsworth did not reply.

Mr. Watson said that a former Georgia soldier was en route here to furnish proof of the hanging charges and that he might appoint him as his secretary so that he might stand by the senator's side in the chamber to aid in proof.

Senator Watson then had senate clerks read a large number of letters, telegrams and newspaper clippings into the record, all reporting alleged cruelties to or mistreatment of soldiers.

The Georgia senator referred to this data as "evidence of confirmation."

"I will be glad to disbelieve these charges," said Mr. Watson, "if proof is submitted that they are not true, I would be glad to know they are not true."

Life Term For Train Wrecker

LAPER MICH., November 3.—Henry W. Gates, 59, of Huntington, Indiana, who confessed Monday that he wrecked a fast Grand Trunk train near here last Friday night, pleaded guilty in circuit court here today, and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Michigan penitentiary at Jackson.

Gates admitted he loosened a rail, causing the train to plunge into a ditch. Three persons were injured and scores of others endangered. He also admitted to officers, the latter state, that he had derailed trains at Monticello, Ind., and Dearborn, Mich., within the last year and had attempted to wreck a train at Monticello, Mich.

Gates attributed his desire to wreck trains to the result of a stroke suffered several years ago. He was arrested the day following the wreck here, after being seen in the vicinity of the derailment.

Check-Off Ban Will Bring Out Union Miners

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., November 3.—In answer to the accusation of Frank Farrington, of the Illinois miners, that officers of the International Union were trying to "pass the buck" on calling a strike, President John L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers of America, today wired Mr. Farrington that "detailed instructions" would be sent him as soon as Illinois operators declare their intention to discontinue the "check off."

Mr. Lewis' message did not intimate the nature of the instructions, but it was said authoritatively that a strike order would be included in the message if Mr. Farrington asked for special instructions as to calling a strike, declaring a willingness to obey instructions. Mr. Lewis said Mr. Farrington, leader of the anti-administration forces in the union, was the only union leader in sixteen states who received the message, to ask an interpretation of the original message.

The coal fields indicating that 25,000 men continued their walkout in protest to the federal court injunction. Pennsylvania operators in the Pittsburgh district have given notice that they will abolish the "check off" but reports from other coal states received at union headquarters here, said the operators had not announced their policy.

ATHENS, O., November 3.—At least two thousand miners employed on operations in the Hocking coal fields today joined in the protest against abolition of the "check off" system, failing to report for work. This makes the total number of miners who have walked out in this field approximately 3,000. According to reports received here, more were expected to discontinue work during the day.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., November 3.—More than a thousand coal miners at Carlinville and Stanton struck today before they had received a telegram from state headquarters ordering them to remain at work. One hundred and fifty miners also struck at Hillsboro.

Anglo-Japanese Treaty May Prove Snag At Arms Meet

Pact Between Britain and Japan
Perils Success of Disarmament
Conference

SIGNED NINETEEN YEARS AGO

Effect Has Been to Close "Open Door" to China—Uncle Sam's Position

BY WM. PHILIP SIMMS
WASHINGTON, D. C., November 3.—The arms limitation conference, now little more than 10 days off, may cause more than the snag of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, the worn-out, but still valid, treaty between Great Britain and Japan.

Notwithstanding a studied attitude of indifference, and public utterances to the contrary, official Washington regards the pact as a vague, but none the less real, menace both to China and the United States.

The inside circle of officialdom both distrusts it and fears it, for under it an empire, which it was pledged to protect, was grabbed up bodily by one of its signatories, while another country, with four times the population, came within an ace of becoming that same signatory's vassal.

Signed Secretly

First broached in secret in 1901, the "A. J." pact was secretly signed Jan. 30, 1902.

It stated the status quo in the Far East, the territorial integrity of China and Korea would be maintained and

Churches Asked To Hold Services For Success Of Arms Meet

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 3.—Governor Davis today designated Sunday, Nov. 6, for the observance of Armistice Day by all churches. In a proclamation he requested that all congregations voice in ceremony and prayer "the commonwealth's hope for realization by the international conference on limitation of armament of its purpose of paving the way toward permanent peace."

The proclamation also asks that on Nov. 11 all churches in the state be kept open for prayer and where possible union services be held in memory of the soldier dead, and of armistice day, the proclamation desires that the interest of the United States in armament conference is the establishment of conditions that will permanently safeguard the peace of the world.

Pershing Had Chance To Be An Admiral

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 3.—General John J. Pershing might have been an admiral had not the lure of land operations been more compelling, for in his youth he received an appointment to Annapolis. When Governor Arthur B. Hyde, started to introduce his father, Ira B. Hyde, to General Pershing yesterday, the General snidely interrupted him by saying:

"Governor, you don't need to introduce your father to me, because I have known him a good many years. He once appointed me to Annapolis."

General Pershing then spoke of the time when his father took him from their home in Lucile, Mo., over to Princeton, to meet the elder Hyde, who was then a member of congress and Homer Hyde had appointed him to the Naval Academy.

On returning home, however, young Pershing and his father reconsidered the matter and the appointment was declined because the future general of the American Expeditionary forces in France thought he would prefer the army. Later he was appointed to West Point.

NEW LOW ON GERMAN MARKS

NEW YORK, N. Y., Nov. 3.—German marks today dropped to a new low record. This was a decline of 1-2 points from the previous low record made yesterday.

To Cost $3,940,000,000 To Run Nation Next Year

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 3.—Estimated expenditure of the government for the fiscal year 1922, now placed at $3,940,000,000, a reduction of $94,000,000, from the August 10 estimate of $4,034,000,000, President Harding has informed congress in a letter to Speaker Gillett.

The new estimate was presented by the president in connection with deficiency estimates of an appropriation of $187,922,576.74, which, Mr. Harding said, were taken into consideration in arriving at the new estimates for 1922 expenditures.

New Chaplain Known As 'The Fighting Parson'

TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 3.—The Rev. Earl Blackburn, elected national chaplain of the American Legion today is known as the "fighting parson" because of his many calls to officiate in boxing bouts both with the overseas forces and since his return to Kansas, where he has been a minister in the Christian church—Disciples of Christ—for the last ten years. He is now preaching at Chanute.

On his return from army service he announced to his church that he favored supervised dancing, boxing and other amusements in connection with his church work and gave the congregation a chance to accept his resignation. After an exciting vote he was retained.

CHINA BIG PROBLEM FOR POWERS AT ARMS PARLEY

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1921, by The Times Publishing Co.)
(In this the fourth of a series of highly interesting dispatches giving the reader a background of information on the coming arms conference, David Lawrence, the famous Washington correspondent, tells why China is an international problem.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—China has always been a problem common to the six great powers—Great Britain, United States, Germany, Japan, Russia, and France.

Time and again efforts have been made to float six-power loans or five power loans among banking groups in order to help out China on her feet. Little by little the nations of the world have been encroaching on her domain. Her undeveloped resources have been tempting to the alert business men of other countries.

Concessions have been obtained in all sorts of ways from the helpless Chinese government which in recent generations has really been a puppet government but has moved along with curious indifference as local governments and provincial authorities have sprung up within the immense empire.

Railways a Great Asset

The possession of railways means a great deal to the nation which owns and operates them in China. It gives access to the mines of the interior for the bringing out of valuable freight. British, American and German capital have been content to develop railway enterprises without assuming to obtain political control for their railways in China. The much talked of province of Shantung with its immense territory was never ceded to Japan at the Paris conference but the port which is practically the door to Shantung province was given Japan as well as jurisdiction over the railway to the interior including a thirty mile strip on each side of the railway. It is true the Germans had forfeited through their defeat in the war. Japan was asking for those rights as her reward for ousting the Germans from Kiachow and the Far East.

But that brought the rub. Would the Japanese be content to operate as a result of these measures.

Sharp Quake Shocks In Peru

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 3.—Four sharp earthquake shocks were felt in this city yesterday morning.

The secretary of the Lima Geographical society declared that the center of the disturbances was about 200 miles southeast of here, near Ica. Dispatches from that city received later in the day said the residents were greatly alarmed by the tremor, and had taken refuge in the parks. Advice relative to casualties in the vicinity of Ica have not been received and belief was expressed here last night that the center of the shock was in an unpopulated area.

FOUND DEAD IN BED

SPRINGFIELD, O., November 3.—Dr. J. E. Cooper, 53, one of the city's highly respected physicians, was found dead in bed this morning. Death was due to a valvular heart disease. He was a graduate of the Eclectic Medical College of Cincinnati, and had practiced medicine for 20 years.

ARABS IN ATTACK ON JEWS, FIVE ARE KILLED

JERUSALEM, Nov. 3.—Five persons were killed and thirteen others were wounded in disorders here today which included the throwing of a bomb. The trouble, the police report, originated in an attempted attack by Arab rioters on the Jewish quarter.

Of the killed four were Jews and one an Arab.

There were a few cases of knifing and shots were exchanged between the factions.

The police frustrated an Arab attack. Later while troops patrolled the city, the governor with the officer commanding the troops and the principal Muslim notables walked through the streets and restored order.

DAN HANNA SUCCUMBS AT OSSINING, NEW YORK

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 3.—Dan Hanna, publisher of the Cleveland News and Cleveland Sunday Leader, and one of Cleveland's foremost business men, died of heart failure at his home The Croft, Ossining, N. Y., early today, according to advices received here. In addition to his newspaper interests, Mr. Hanna was heavily interested in real estate, owning two of Cleveland's largest office buildings and for many years was a leading figure in the Iron Ore, Coal and Lake shipping industry. Mr. Hanna was well known in politics as a strong supporter of the late President Theodore Roosevelt.

A son of the late United States Senator Marcus A. Hanna, he was born Dec. 26, 1841, in Cleveland and is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary Hanna, a daughter of Washington, D. C., and his wife, Mrs. Mary Hanna, of Cleveland, and by eight children. The children are Mark A. Hanna and Carl H. Hanna of Waterford, N. Y.; Dan Hanna, Jr., of Cleveland; and Misses Elizabeth, Natalie, Ruth, Charlotte and Mary Hanna. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Milk Wagon Drivers Strike In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, O., November 3.—Common Pleas Judge Maurice Herman this morning granted a temporary injunction restraining striking milk wagon drivers from interfering in any way with the delivery of milk here after several outbreaks of violence had marked the start of the second day of the strike of 800 milk wagon drivers.

The most serious disorder occurred in the down town section when a man threw a base ball bat through the windshield of a Teeling-Rolle Vernon Company milk truck that was distributing milk for babies. The crashing glass was thrown into the face of the truck driver. His throat was slashed, scalp and nose cut and partially blinded by flying splinters. He lost control of the truck which polied into a standing automobile at the curb and then smashed into the corner of a building. The impact of the crash hurled the driver from his seat to the sidewalk. His legs were broken in the fall.

Physicians from the Lake Division of the Red Cross saved his life by giving first aid.

A man, his wife and baby who were in the smaller machine, were slightly injured.

Bolshevism Burning Out In Europe

BY MILTON BRONNER
LONDON, November 3.—The fires of bolshevism are dying out in Europe, but flaming higher in middle Asia, where they menace British rule in India. A survey of the situation shows:

RUSSIA—Still ruled and ruined by the Bolsheviks, who, however, have had to make many concessions to capital lately, not the least of which is the assumption of the obligations of the czaristic regime.

GERMANY—Once powerful Spartaist party reduced to impotence; two of its leaders, Karl Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg, assassinated, and another, a Bolshevik highwayman, Max Holz, sentenced to 15 years in prison; Wirth government strongly entrenched and red terror no longer feared.

BAVARIA—Communist republic headed by Kurt Eisner overthrown; Eisner assassinated, and strong government with monarchial tendencies in saddle.

HUNGARY—Conservative elements in complete control after overthrowing Bela Kun's red republic and driving Kun to take refuge in Russia. Although country recently rejected Ex-King Carl, its trend is monarchial.

ITALY—Extreme elements in Socialist party, after assuming great strength, have been put down by the Fascists, an organization of more than a million men, mostly former soldiers. These pursued retaliatory tactics against the Socialists after every red outrage, until a peace pact was signed.

RUSSIA—This country no longer fears bolshevism. Wise agrarian laws have permitted division of huge estates into small farms which have been given to the peasantry.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA—A moderate Socialist republic which has never been seriously troubled by bolshevism.

BULGARIA—A nation of peasant farmers whose premier boasts he represents the great international, meaning the small peasant farmer class, has no tolerance for bolshevism.

YUGO-SLAVIA—Authorities have taken stern measures to repress bolshevism following several political murders. More than 10,000 persons have been imprisoned or banished as a result of these measures.

FRANCE—Henri Barbusse, the communist novelist, estimates there are only 150,000 communists in all France. The government has taken drastic steps to repress them. The Socialist party has split up.

ENGLAND—What there is of the communist party has broken up so that it is more of a joke than ever.

Bigger section has repudiated only London communist paper and has withdrawn financial support from it.

SPAIN—Reds are menace only in industrial cities. In Barcelona, for instance, they maintain a campaign of intimidation, bomb-throwing, and occasional assassination.

MIDDLE ASIA—Bolsheviks have made Caspian Sea a red lake, have so-called republics in Georgia, Azerbaijan and Armenia, have Khiva, Bokhara, Turkistan and Afghanistan under their domination and have countered British influence in Persia.

Folks needn't be so particular with the brand of weather they're getting this time of year. They want to change and they're kicking about the mixture, so here's for ignorance.

OHIO: Generally fair tonight and Friday, slightly warmer in southwest portion tonight.

KENTUCKY—Cool tonight and Friday. Not so cool. Frost tonight.

The extremes in local temperature today were: High, 55; low, 39.

It is to be located in the Joseph Sodaro building on Gallia street, opposite the N. & W. freight house, occupied recently by the Pure Milk Company.

Mr. Gordley has been working on plans of this character for several months and finally decided that the city is big enough for it. He has rented the Sodaro building and will at once start work on building stands and booths which will be rented out to those desiring such places in the market. Grocers and meat dealers are expected to have part of the stands while many of the gardeners from the rural districts have signified their intention of having a stand or booth in it.

Two or three markets a week will be held with the Saturday one lasting all day. Mr. Gordley expects to open the market house about Nov. 12.

Ironton Hunters Are Fined

The quartet of prominent Ironton men, Dr. O. H. Henniger, Fred Henniger, grocer, Donald Wietek, druggist, and Frank W. Wietek, real estate dealer, who were arrested Wednesday by Game Protector Frank Voorhees for violating game laws, drew fines of $100 each on their plea of guilty when arraigned before Squire William McManes.

In addition the defendants forfeited to the state four costly shot guns and two valuable beagle hounds which were seized by the officer when he caught the men hunting on the farm of Dr. Henniger in Green township.

When taken into custody the hunters had in their possession 25 rabbits, one quail and a wild duck. The rabbits were sent to Hempstead hospital and the patients there enjoyed a rabbit dinner today while the confiscated guns and hounds will be sent to the Fish and game department at Columbus.

Ooray! Sciotoville Has Light

Main street is a regular Broadway and from now on we will have something to brag about," said Sciotoville citizens last night when the new street lights were turned on for the first time.

Twenty big arc lights are up in the business section of the village, the majority of them being on main street.

There are three in the bridge crossing the Little Scioto river, one at the E. & O. underground crossing and one at the corner of the street. Later lights will be scattered through the residential section of the village. With city water and fire protection coming the village will soon take its place among other villages having essential municipal improvements.

IRONTON, Nov. 3.—Suits aggregating $32,000, growing out of the explosion at St. Lawrence Auditorium, the day before Thanksgiving day, 1917, were filed in common pleas court this morning by Rev. J. H. Cotter, Agnes B. King, Louise Barron and Agnes B. King as next friend of Sheila King. Damages are asked for injuries sustained when the auditorium blew up, following an escape of gas, caused when the janitor turned a gas valve, which he thought controlled the water supply of the building. The pipe carrying the gas to the building was an unused or "dead" pipe. It is alleged and gas collected in the basement beneath the St. Lawrence Auditorium, exploding during the progress of an entertainment.

Mr. Rickey Will Not File Charge

J. Frank Rickey of Duck Run who recovered a blow on the chest several days ago in an argument with a man by the name of James Barker at McDermott, does not intend to file any charges, adding that the incident is closed as far as he is concerned.

Mr. Rickey is one of the People's candidates for a position on the County Board of Education and during a political argument at McDermott recently Barker, it is claimed, took exception to remarks by Mr. Rickey and struck him.

The latter was in McDermott on business with Ord Thompson, general merchant, when it is claimed Barker got into an argument by accusing Rickey of "being against good schools."

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—I am a young girl of 18 and in love with a man who works on a train. Always when he passes my house he smiles at me, and waves. If he has time he talks to me. He is not a married man. I found that out. He told a friend of mine that he thought lots of me but he never talks to me about love. Just says anything to me about love. I don't know how smart a man or woman is, like to hear foolish messages sometimes, don't they? I don't intend to marry the man unless he asks me, and I hope he doesn't ask me until I am old enough to accept him. Dolly, please tell me if you think he loves me.

TIGER LILY.

He probably likes you, but you should not take a man like that seriously. I imagine he speaks to every little girl he sees along the road, and never gives them a second thought afterwards. Some people have a mania for writing letters to the people on a train. Since you do not intend to marry until you get older, why worry about his love? If he loves you and wants to marry you, he will tell you so soon as he is in a position to mention marriage. Do not put too much faith in what you hear indirectly.

Dear Dolly—I am a country girl and want some of your advice. Dolly, I am 18 years of age and going with a young man of 25. He wants me to marry him and I want to know if you think I am old enough. My parents do not care. I ask them and they told me to write to you about it. I am rather set, if I do say so myself. I have always helped my mother and can do any kind of housework such as baking and sewing. I can also churn and milk the cows. Do you think I would make a good farmer's wife? Please answer as soon as possible as I may have to give my answer Sunday night.

COUNTRY LASSIE.

Don't put such an important question up to me. You will have to spend your life with the man and you are the one to decide the matter. If your parents do not care, then let it up to you. At eighteen you are a very young girl. In experience, however, you are older than eighteen, because you have done so much for your parents about the home and farm. The responsibilities of married life would not be the burden to you that they are to many young and inexperienced girls. If you feel a hesitation in your heart, wait awhile but if you feel sure you want to marry him, it might be all right for you to do so.

WANT TO KNOW.

Dear Dolly—I have three questions I want you to answer and I am going to number them so you will be sure to answer all of them. (1) What is one supposed to say when someone says, "Good to have met you?" (2) When a young man wishes to be your "best friend" is it proper when a young girl does not agree to tell that she does not love him other than a friend? (3) What is the best thing to say when a young girl thanks you for a dance?

CONFESSIONS OF A MOVIE STAR CHAPTER XVI—MOTHERDEAR EXPLAINS A LOT

VALUABLE explanations by Rose were followed by orders to the waiter to rearrange the table for four.

We dined under a nervous tension. Motherdear was simply charming to Motherdear. Endless of my work embarrassed me, but I could tell he wasn't making much of a hit with her.

On the way home from Rose's dinner, Motherdear was almost disagreeable. Only once or twice in my life had I seen her in such an unapproachable mood.

In accordance with the decree of the chief hobgoblins of this merry Halloween season, Mr. Vaughn Finney entertained the boys of his Sunday school class of Trinity church Tuesday evening at his home, 1723 Oakland avenue. The proverbial color scheme of yellow and black cuts, witches and ghosts prevailed in the rooms, and the evening was made merry with various Halloween games and stunts. The boys presented themselves in ludicrous and grotesque styles, and when the time came for unmaking merriment reigned supreme. Halloween refreshments were served at a late hour and all left praising Mr. Finney an ideal host. Those in the class include Edwin and William Crawford, Albert Price, Kermit and Ralph Micklethwait, Richard Reinhardt, Howard Seltz, Edwin Miller, Harold Eichorn, Paul Cooper, Howard Dehner, Edward Quinn and Willard Robinson.

Members of Trinity choir are requested to meet at the home of the organist, Mrs. Vaughn Finney, 1723 Oakland avenue, at 7:15 this evening, instead of at the church. All members are requested to take notice and be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Heldey of Akron are guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Bonzo of Eleventh street.

Mr. and Mrs. William N. Gableman of Robinson avenue have as guest Miss Sallie Brown of Rockville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Grace of Jackson have moved to Chillicothe. Mrs. Grace will be pleasantly remembered here as Miss Edith Oursler, daughter of Mrs. Lydia Oursler, of 1214 Fourth street.

able mood. First she cried over me, then she kissed me, and then she fell into a long silence.

"What worries you, Motherdear?" I clasped her soft fingers in mine. "Cyrus!" she announced abruptly. "Cyrus!" I repeated in astonishment.

"He phoned me that he had fixed up the engine of your car in a jiffy. But that was after you had left with Hoge. He said nothing was the matter with the engine. He advised me to fire our new chauffeur immediately. He didn't want to say more. Just suggested that a word to the wise was sufficient."

"You made him explain?" "Finally he hinted at some kind of a frame-up. He said I'd better come for the car and stop here and get you. Or if I said so, he'd come for you and take you home."

"I'm sure I don't see what you were worried about, Motherdear!" "I'm glad to say you don't. Perhaps I'm confused myself. Perhaps Cissy was excited. I can't come to any conclusion. And so let's talk about the frocks which were delivered today."

"That settled it. I was too exhausted to care about dresses, to care about anything but getting home to my bed. Motherdear returned to the subject before I went to sleep."

"Little girl, Motherdear is a married man. I suppose I'm old-fashioned and not used to the manners of some movie people, or the freedom of women and men in the same business. Nor the familiarity. I can't forget that Motherdear has half a dozen little children in his home. One daughter is about your age. Now my conscience compels me to believe that Motherdear ought to spend his spare time with his family."

"And he ought not to go out to little dinners without his wife. I don't need to be told that, Motherdear. I guess my girl knows that. But I'm sure you understand how I happened to be there?"

"I can trust you, darling!" Motherdear kissed me tenderly, thought a minute, and continued: "I can't take you out of the movies, darling. It's your future, your fortune, not mine, that's to be made. I can't interfere. But I guess we'll both take good care not to help Motherdear to neglect his family!"

"What did Cyrus mean by a 'frame-up'?" "Well—possibly—that was his slang way of saying the new chauffeur was tricking us. Cyrus seems to have a remarkable knowledge of cars. He was curious—and spoiled the fellow's trick."

MAYOR GIVES STATEMENT ON WATER WORKS

Acts in Detail Placed

Before Eyes Of Voters

Mayor William M. Gableman, in a prepared statement, handed out to the public, gives an exhaustive and thorough review of his administration of the city water works. He goes into details, showing the financial condition of the plant, and shows how large sums are required to pay off the indebtedness incurred in building the new plant.

There has been a lot of loose talk about the water works, but the facts, showing just what has been done and what will be done in the future. Every voter is urged to read this statement.

Mayor Gableman says: "There has been some discussion in this campaign with reference to the present water rates. However, not a single utterance has been made by our opponents relative to inefficiency in the management or operation of our water works plant. Simply an objection to the rates charged consumers for water and the promise that these rates will be reduced.

"THE STATUTE permits a municipality to operate a water plant, but not for profit. The income from water rentals must be sufficient to operate the plant, keep same in repair and retire the bonds issued for the construction of the plant and the extension of the water mains.

"When it is ascertained that the income is not sufficient to do these things, the rates must be increased. When the income exceeds the amount necessary for these purposes a reduction, of course, is ordered.

"Several audits have been made under the supervision of the State Bureau of Accounting since the installation of our new plant. These reports or audits are public records and explain the rate proposition fully.

"If the cost of the plant is not to be paid out of income it must be paid by taxation. The cost would then be paid out of our General Sinking Fund whose sole source of income is from taxes. Our opponents claim they will not only lower the tax rate but will also lower water rates. But we have failed as yet to be informed as to their methods in bringing about these reductions.

"If they are honest and sincere in their promises and utterances, if they are able to make good their promises, if they have a plan, or if they honestly believe they have a plan, whereby taxes and water rates can be reduced, why don't they, if they have the interest and welfare of our people at heart, disclose this plan in order that our people may receive the benefits thereof? I charge them with willfully making promises they know they can not keep.

"I have made, with the able assistance of my associates, who have the management and operation of our Water Work in charge, the following careful survey of our water problem since our new plant has been in operation."

The Truth About The Water Works

When the new plant was started, the Administration was not certain that the water rentals would have to be increased for it was found that much partiality had been shown and all consumers did not pay the same rate.

That all might be on the same basis, a house to house canvass was made in 1915 which corrected the more glaring differences. The effect of this canvass is shown in the following table of yearly water rentals:

	1915	1916	1917	1918
1915	67,039.08
1916		70,773.51
1917			81,287.53
1918				82,275.06
Cost of operation	$366,799.99	$468,763.34	$532,104.40	$527,250.66
Int on borrowed money	298,299.50	295,420.00	315,044.50	312,044.50
Paid to Sinking Fund	000.00	000.00	7500.00	21500.00
Total cash required	665,099.49	759,183.34	822,148.90	835,429.56
Total water rents	67,039.08	70,773.51	81,287.53	82,275.06
Deficit				14,974.40
Surplus	1529.59

With the results of the November, 1915 collection in hand, some believed that the water rents would be increased, but nothing was done in this regard in 1916 by the New Administration. Becoming alarmed by the decreasing cash balance in the water works funds, another house to house canvass was made in 1917, producing the good results above shown. The table below shows that more money had to be obtained, but the rentals were not increased until after the 1917 election.

The Industrial Interests buy about one-fourth of the water pumped by meter and will largely benefit by a reduced rate. If the water works debt is to be paid by taxation, ask the small consumer if he thinks his share of the burden will be decreased. What about the Industrial Interests of New Boston? They will receive the greatest benefit, for any general reduction in water rents will be without compensat-

Although the water rents in 1918 were nearly twice what they were in 1915, there was still each year an actual deficit. The real shortage of cash, however, did not become felt until 1919, as there was a cash balance in the water works funds on January 1st, 1916, of $275,862.26, and there is also an income of several thousand dollars a year from taps and miscellaneous sales. All expenses in 1919 were cut to the bone to avoid an increase in water rents before the 1919 election. In the face of rising costs on everything and a largely increased pumping of water, the operating expense of $275,862.26 in 1918 was cut in 1919 to $70,052.44. This cut in operating costs would surely be praiseworthy, if it were true economy but nothing would be more false. Needed supplies were not purchased, and repairs were not made for one and only one reason: TO AVOID INCREASING THE WATER RENTALS UNTIL AFTER THE ELECTION.

Now, voters, when the employees of this city have to lie down and make the interests of your water utility subservient to the interests of a band of Political Demagogues, it is time to look into things. Without regard to Political Party, and with only the interests of the people at heart, the City Council and your Mayor have worked during the last two years to right the damage done to your property worth over a million dollars.

The New Administration awoke too late to the financial situation to obtain the much needed increase in water rents on the May 1920 collection. We found that we would not have the time to get our collection cards ready to handle this increase and that it could not be made until November, 1920, at which time the last increase became effective. It was very evident that this last increase would not take care of the shortage for about a year, and that money for operation expense would still have to be borrowed on Certificates of Indebtedness. The Administration was still further embarrassed by the City Auditor, who, now suddenly found that the time honored custom of issuing certificates was illegal, and he advised, in May, 1921, that no more of these certificates would be issued, and that the water rental better be again increased November, 1921.

After the panic caused by his decision subsided, we found that no loans or further increase was necessary. We will arrive November 1st, 1921, with a small actual cash balance, and the prospect of a thirty (30) per cent surplus in the future.

The Present Financial Condition

The main question of interest to the Water Consumer is his individual charge for service. The cost of operation must be paid from the water rentals, but the interest and principal of sums borrowed to construct new works and extensions may be paid either from water rentals or from taxation money. Below is a table showing approximately how the water rentals at present are expended:

Ports, St. Rd. and Light Co. for current	7.8%
United Fuel Gas Co. for fuel	10.9%
Pay Roll	18.5%
All other expenses	9.8%
Interest on borrowed money	22.0%
Surplus	31.0%
Total	100.0%

Yes, the cost of operation is less than 50 per cent of the total collected and no money has been received from taxation to pay interest or other indebtedness. We can, therefore, reduce water rents 50 per cent and make a 14c tax levy which will take care of the interest and debts, but let us see who will be benefited by such a change.

A consumer in Portsmouth owns a $5,000.00 house and lot and pays $20.00 per year to the Water Works. This is just the same as paying $13.00 per year to the Water Works and one and four-tenths mills in taxes. Our tax rate on this plan would therefore be $3.14 as against $2.00, the present rate.

A consumer in New Boston with a like property pays $20.00 per year to the Water Works but if the water rent were reduced we could not increase his taxes, nor is his property in any way burdened by the Portsmouth Water Works Debt.

The Industrial Interests buy about one-fourth of the water pumped by meter and will largely benefit by a reduced rate. If the water works debt is to be paid by taxation, ask the small consumer if he thinks his share of the burden will be decreased. What about the Industrial Interests of New Boston? They will receive the greatest benefit, for any general reduction in water rents will be without compensating taxation, and over half the industrial water is used in the village.

The village of New Boston made a sharp bargain with this city and we now find that over half the total water pumped is used east of Damaris Hill. Our indebtedness of $742,000.00 was largely incurred to construct the Pumping Station Filtration Plant and Reservoir and we are not unfair to ask the water consumers of New Boston to carry their share of the burden of this debt.

We favor the retention of the present water rates until the indebtedness for the present works is paid or placed in a sinking fund, that New Boston property shall be made to pay its fair and just share of the cost of the same.

How Fast Is The Debt Being Paid

Ever since the debt was incurred to construct the present works the able men, composing our Board of Sinking Fund Trustees, have urged the water works administration to adopt a financial policy which would take care of the water works indebtedness. They fully understood that a just share of the expense could only be obtained under our contract with New Boston by increasing the water rate. The play to the popular fancy with a promise of reduced water rates always gets a few who are not wise to the situation but the real answer comes when one determines who is really behind the movement. The increase made in 1918 did not place the full share of the burden on New Boston, or otherwise the incoming Administration in 1920 would not have had three kinds of indebtedness with which to contend.

The water works went into debt in three ways: by the issue of regular bonds; by the issue of certificates of indebtedness with 6 per cent interest and by allowing bills to become much overdue. If our rates had been high enough to place a just share on New Boston, only the first form of indebtedness would have existed.

Our water works bonds were issued so that $7,500.00 had to be paid off in 1917, and $21,500.00 each year since, with a very much larger payment due in 1926. The deficit which occasioned the last two forms of indebtedness was incurred in 1916, 1917 and 1918. The increase made in 1918 was large enough to take care of the 1919, 1920 and 1921 charges, but was only very slowly decreasing the deficit incurred in 1916, 1917, and 1918, and was totally inadequate to handle the bond payments due in 1926. The increase in water rents in 1920, was made to pay off this three-year-old deficit and to accumulate funds for a payment five years in advance. Yes, it was not necessary to do this, but it was the only way to obtain a just share from New Boston.

$50,000.00 in bonds have just been issued to start the work of installing mains in Scitoville and North Moreland, and is in addition to the $742,000.00 before mentioned. The present income will pay off our present debts in ten years, and should be maintained until an ample Sinking Fund is accumulated.

The Operating Situation

Early in 1920, the New Administration of the Water Works was approached by the State Authorities and was told, in no uncertain terms, that the conditions in the water works must be improved, and that unless this improvement was immediate, the charge of Water and Sewer Maintenance, and came to us well informed as to the local situation. The Manager has received the hearty co-operation of all the Water Works Employees. The results accomplished have been outlined under the several sub-headings, but in summary we say a total daily saving in operation of over $30.00 per day is being made as against the conditions existing in January 1920.

The Administration strongly desired to extend the water mains to Scitoville and North Moreland early in the spring of this year and last December recommended to Council that money for this be provided. Bonds have only lately been sold, but with good luck a start at least can be made before cold weather. With a return to office next year, the present Administration can promise a continuation of the same vigorous policy in the Water Works affairs. We are dependent on your votes and solicit your approval on November 8th for the right to continue this good work.

To Be Shown At The Columbia Theatre For Three Days, Starting Today

The principal attraction at the Columbia Theatre for three days, commencing today, will be "Heliotope," a new Cosmopolitan Production. Like its popular predecessor, "Humoresque," this is a stirring story of a parent's love for a child. But while mother love is the primal motif in "Humoresque," it is the sacrifice made by a father to insure his daughter's happiness that makes the chief appeal in "Heliotope."

The story, written by Richard Washburn Child, centers around a convict, who is known to his pals as Heli-trope Harry, due to his fondness for that plant and his perfume. Heliotope's lovely daughter, Alice, has never known her father and mother. The latter is an unscrupulous woman who lures her for gold. When Alice becomes engaged to a rich young man, brother of her school chum, her mother plans a blackmail game that threatens the girl's future. But before she can carry out her evil design, Heliotope secures his release from prison and after several dramatic developments, gives up his life to prevent Alice from coming to harm.

Council Takes Steps To Pave Jackson Avenue

The full membership of council was present at the regular meeting Wednesday night and President George W. Vandervoort occupied the chair. The session was rather brief, the business transacted consisting principally of passing legislation providing for improvements.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the issuing of certificates of indebtedness in the sum of $2500 to meet the November police and fire department payrolls and the sum of $802 was voted to relay the sidewalks on the south side of Kinney's Lane from Officer street to Franklin Boulevard after issue of $1000 certificates of indebtedness had been authorized to provide funds for the improvement.

The sum of $1400 was voted to pay the cost of repairing the upper ferry river grade and an ordinance was passed appropriating $12,800 to pay the expense of extending Seventeenth street to Mabert Avenue.

Legislation was ordered to relieve a bad drainage condition in an alley east of the "Y" at East Portsmouth at an estimated cost of $300 and legislation to pave Jackson street in the Thomas addition was ordered held up after considerable discussion until it is ascertained whether or not all the property on the street will stand the assessment. It was explained that no petition in writing had been presented for the improvement and that the property owners had not waived their statutory rights in this respect.

A resolution was adopted to pave Jackson street, Officer to Campbell, but it was recommended that the Board of Control hold up the asking for bids until after the first of the new year as it was pointed out the improvement can not be made until next spring and by then the price of material may be lower.

Member Westphal stated that he had been informed that the bad condition of the street crossings in Sciotoville was holding up the installation of mail service in that territory and on this motion the service director was instructed to make the necessary repairs to the crossings.

Solicitor Skelton advised that he had been unable to acquire the right to cross the land of C. W. G. Haunah with the proposed ditch to drain Lawson's Run and he was directed to institute condemnation proceedings unless he can make satisfactory settlement without a suit.

An application for permission to erect an iron stairway in the alley on the east side of the Board building on Galile street was referred to the street committee for a report and the sum of $5800 was voted to pay the cost of repairing fire equipment.

Member Runyan reported that the bridge across the creek in North Moreland addition was in bad condition and unsafe to cross with the fire equipment and the discussion which followed resulted in the ordering of an estimate of constructing a concrete culvert and fill at Sterling street to replace the old bridge.

Member Chabot of the light committee caused a ripple of laughter when he reported the street lights at Sciotoville were turned on at ten minutes after five o'clock yesterday evening. Discussing probable permanent improvements for Sciotoville it was pointed out that now was the proper time for the citizens there to get busy and bring in their petitions for improvements to be made next year in order that the legislation may be started in ample time.

Resolutions were adopted awarding a number of bond issues to the City Sinking Fund Trustees. The issues included $13,000 for the extension of Sixteenth street; $15,000 street and alley improvement; $5,000 city's preparation sewer construction; $6000 fire equipment and $1500 river improvement.

On motion of Member Westphal the matter of widening Scioto Trail to the city limits was referred to the street committee for a report.

During a discussion of the work necessary to connect up dead ends of water mains in various parts of the city, Water Works Manager George P. Shute and Fire Chief Leedom stated that the recent survey made by fire underwriters had disclosed that the fire protection of the city at present was not as good as before the new water works was built. This situation, it was explained, was due to the small water mains in the business district which will require an investment of $25,000 to buy larger pipes to correct, it was claimed.

SCOUT NEWS

The following letter telling of the five Scout contests that have been arranged by Scout Executive Gillilan has been sent to the fifteen troops and four hundred odd Scouts in the city. All five of the contests end January 1, 1922:

Dear Scouts:

This is the first Scout letter of the winter season, so I wish to talk of the five Scout contests that will be held this winter.

The first contest will be a New Member Contest to see which troop can get the greatest number of new members, that is, boys who have never been Scouts, enrolled in the troop by Jan. 1st. A new member will count as soon as he has paid his 50c. membership dues, and passed the Tenderfoot examinations. Who will win this contest?

The next contest will be to see which troop will have the greatest number of Scouts become First Class in 1921. This contest will also end Jan. 1st. The prize will be a gold Scoutmaster pin for the Scoutmaster of the winning troop.

The third contest will be a Merit Badge Contest, to see which troop will have taken the greatest number of Merit Badges in 1921. A six-foot pennant will be the prize.

The fourth contest will be a contest in drilling. Foot-work only will be used, no guns being allowed. It will be held at sometime during the Christmas vacation, probably in the high school.

The fifth contest is the big contest. This one will be like the contest last year, in attendance, Scout Work, and good turns. It starts Monday, Oct. 25. If all the troop is present at roll call, they score 200 points, and if three-quarters are present, 150 points, etc.

Scoutmaster present—20 points.
Assistant Scoutmaster present—20 points.

Grown visitors who say something to the troop—25 points.
Tenderfoot sworn in—50 points.

Each of the ten second-class questions passed—20 points.

Finishing second class—50 points.

Each of the first class questions passed—40 points.

Finishing first class—100 points extra.

Merit Badges—50 points each.

Becoming Life and Star—500 points.

Becoming Eagle—1000 points.

Good turns—1 to 50 points each.

Then there will be a new way to score by Patrol Meetings during the week, say at one of the scout's houses, each member of the Patrol present will get ten points extra. Report it at the next meeting of the troop, but a patrol can hold only one meeting each week. Make out your report on paper this time. I will send the blanks next week. The contest will end January 1st, and a basketball will be the prize.

I wish you may all have a good winter in Scouting. I hope every troop, at their meeting, will pick out one or two contests and say to each other and to other troops, "we will win that one." Let's have a good winter in Scouting. Go in and win!

If You Are For GOOD SCHOOLS

RARDEN VILLAGE GRADE AND HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

Are You In Favor Of Good Schools? WHAT HAVE WE BEEN DOING?

This good building was erected under the PRESENT COUNTY SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION. When County Superintendent E. O. McCowen became County Superintendent, Rarden had a FOUR room, two-story, frame grade building and no high school. The Principal, R. K. Day, and the Board of Education recognized the importance of establishing a High School in their town. To do this required a new building. Committees of citizens and Board members canvassed the people on the matter and found the sentiment favorable. An election was called for $12,000 and carried with only ONE vote against it. This plain but serviceable building with high school unit and four grade rooms complete, with heating and ventilating system, was built in due time, after the customary hard work all round, and a GOOD Grade and High School was established. The Galena Rural or Rarden Village High School offers three years of work with a few elective subjects. It has two high school teachers and is a GOOD SCHOOL. Thus, through the splendid co-operation of the Rarden Board of Education, the people of Rarden and the County Superintendent a frame grade building was replaced by a modern grade and High School building of brick construction and another grade school was supplanted by a grade and high school. Thus, was another GOOD SCHOOL established for the boys and girls in that part of Scioto County. THE PEOPLE OF RARDEN WILL DOUBTLESS RESENT on election day THE ATTEMPT TO DISCREDIT THEIR COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT by voting for WILLIAM BRANT, AL TURNER and JOHN S. VIOLET for Members of the County Board of Education. County Superintendent E. O. McCowen left the meeting of that Board of Education between 11 and 2 o'clock at night several times while assisting them in getting this building, to drive across the county to his home.

Then, too, the Rarden School Building has an auditorium and play room that will seat about 200 people. Here is the "Community Center" idea again. What is that so called platform of the opposition? Why don't they explain it in answer to our questions? THEY CAN'T STAND ON IT, and they tried to run on it but seem to have forgotten it to have a little "side issue" all their own. THE PRESENT COUNTY SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION thus again deserves a little credit for something done and the people of Rarden will appreciate it by voting for AL TURNER, WILLIAM BRANT and JOHN S. VIOLET. And they still try to get away from the real issue "GOOD SCHOOLS". But they can't. The PEOPLE want GOOD SCHOOLS and they will not take a blind promise from those with NO RECORD OF GOOD SCHOOLS to stand on.

The opposition still refuses to be fair and answer our questions and the people can see that they are only blustering around in the same old strain that they have been on for six weeks, and so what's the use to ask them more when they will not answer any?

If cuts could have been obtained we would have taken pleasure in showing the splendid new two-room buildings at Buena Vista and Minford as well as several new modern one-room schools in the county. Other improvements have been made and buildings have been equipped up-to-date. It is, therefore, already very evident to the readers that the aspersion cast in the squib in the Times October 27th, in which they clearly implied that the PRESENT COUNTY ADMINISTRATION "had fizzled" as they put it IS NOT TRUE. Voters, hunt up that little article October 27th headed, "What have they been doing?" Read it and then see what you say about it. Have the opposition MISREPRESENTED us in that respect? You see they have in a very large degree. When they get CORNERED they HOP, QUICK, to something else, and they surely have had to hop some. But the voters will not be fooled. They are for GOOD SCHOOLS and will vote for creative force in the best way possible. So she has to her credit one of the most discussed and lauded literary achievements in bookdom—"A Woman's Man."

Two other books, "Fortunate" written in Rome when she was 19, and "Dust of the Road," written in England when she was a member of Sir Frank Benson's company, have attained best seller proportions.

"I believe that heredity plays an important part in life," says Miss Patterson, "but inherited tendencies, no matter how fine, do a minimum of good unless developed through individual power."

"If a man or a woman feels that overpowering creative force, calling for expression, it is the person's duty to follow the call. Some women feel it for domestic life and become great mothers; others feel it for professional life."

"Personally, the life of society means nothing to me."

Miss Patterson left the stage at the height of attainment as Violet in "The Prodigal," to devote herself to writing.

"I am said to resemble Betsy Patterson," said the great-grand-uncle of Madame Bonaparte. "Perhaps I find my romance in work. At present I am finishing a play, 'Pan in Ambush' and am working on another drama. Yes, work is the great motive force in life."

Anglo-Japanese

the open door preserved. Before three years had passed, every one of these pledges had been violated. Korea became a Japanese dependency. China's integrity had been stepped on, Japan's hold on Manchuria had tightened, and the open door haunched slant.

So completely had the status quo 1902 been altered that it became necessary to change the wording of, and renew the Alliance, originally intended to run 10 years.

Paramount Rights
The new version of the treaty still guaranteed to preserve the status quo and maintain the open door, but Japan's paramount rights in Korea were recognized in place of that country's independence.

In 1910 Japan annexed Korea. By 1911, four years before the date of expiration of the renewed treaty, the status quo had again become so badly battered that another re-writing had become necessary to make it conform to the new situation.

In 1914 Japan went into Shantung. She is there now, the "A-J" Alliance guaranteeing China's integrity to the contrary notwithstanding.

Japan's 21 Demands
In 1915 Japan secretly made her famous "21 demands" on China. Had China yielded to the stupendous press-sure, accompanied by threats, made upon her at that time, she would have become a Japanese protectorate.

Later in the same year, an ultimatum menacing China with a drubbing unless she gave in to Japan's modified version of the 21 demands, was successfully put over.

By this process Japan not only shut the door to China but nailed it shut. Today, Japan, with Great Britain's support, claims a monopoly on wireless communications in China—the British Marconi Company and the Japanese Mitsui Company together opposing the Federal Wireless Company, an American concern.

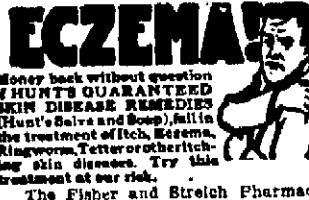

Another spike in the already nailed door; with the "A-J" Alliance looking on.

30 Secret Loans

In the last four years Japan has made upwards of 30 secret loans to China, tightening her grip on Peking.

Under the pact Japan has done as she liked and Britain has been but a complacent partner.

Therefore, if an understanding in the Pacific is to be reached here, a lot of explaining will be necessary to convince American delegates of the "harmlessness" of the Alliance. Indeed there is a feeling that an agreement will be out of the question unless the pact is denounced.

The Fisher and Strick Pharmacy

the Germans had? Indeed, the Germans entered into working agreements with British and other European business men in the Far East. It was purely a commercial matter, not a political proposition. Would Japan keep it commercial or use it to penetrate China politically and get a hold on the administrative independence of China?

Chinese Object to Jap Ownership
The Chinese thought so. They openly opposed Japan's basis for their opposition to Japan's requisitioning of one inch more of foothold in China. It's a question of faith, of trust or suspicion. The Japanese protest that they never break their word. That they have only disinterested motives and seek merely a place for commercial expansion for their already overpopulated country. But the Chinese will not listen. Sharing the Chinese suspicious are practically all the British French and American business interests in China. They are violently anti-Japanese. They expect their respective governments to use their moral and physical power to keep the Japanese from overstepping the bounds of commercial necessity. They insist that the open door shall mean an open door and no discrimination.

Who will Keep "Open Door" Open?
Who will keep the "open door" open? The British government knows it cannot do it alone. Will the United States help? That's why the British are not anxious to announce at this time what they will do with the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. One school of thought insists that the alliance be abrogated because of the stimulus it gives the Japanese politically and commercially, but another school of thought in the British government wants to know first whether the moral and physical help of the United States can be counted upon if the alliance is given up.

In other words it is contended by the latter group of statesmen that the Anglo-Japanese alliance gives the British government certain intimacy with the Japanese government which makes it possible to hold Japan back gently but firmly and exercises quietly an influence which might never be publicly acknowledged or heeded if the alliance were broken and if Japan felt that she must eventually seek the hand of reconstruction. Germany or resuscitated Russia to assist in fulfilling her ambitions in the Far East.

Waiting on America
Does America stand ready to enter into a treaty which will impose certain mutual obligations? Great Britain is waiting to see. The United States pledged herself under McKinley's administration and has reiterated her congress many times since under Mr. Roosevelt and Republican secretaries of state to maintain the territorial integrity and administrative independence of China. Will the Harding administration say so in a formal treaty? Mindful of the fact that the Republican party denounced article ten in the Wilson covenant because it was intended to guarantee the territorial integrity and political independence of member states in the league of nations including China, the query is whether enough water has gone over the dam to make President Harding and Secretary Hughes ready to apply the doctrine of article ten to China.

Back of it all is a desire to prevent war. In favor of the guarantee of China's territorial integrity is the argument that if all the powers including Japan sign on the dotted line a pledge to let China alone, the agreement will never have to be enforced. It is the same line of thought which actuated Mr. Wilson in urging article ten, namely that a profession of respect for territorial integrity made in a formal treaty would be too difficult a hurdle for any nation to jump no matter how strong might be her military elements or how far gone might be her ambitious statesmen.

The drawing up of a treaty or convention which would insure all nations the "open door" and pledge all countries to respect China's territorial and political integrity is the big aim of the Conference. When once such a compact is in effect, what use would the Anglo-Japanese alliance be? Great Britain might be reluctant to take the initiative in abrogating it but other powers would not hesitate to ask for the incorporation of a provision stating that all agreements and alliances or understandings entered into heretofore which may be inconsistent with the new treaty shall be automatically considered as denounced or abrogated. That would save England the necessity of denouncing the alliance and would absolutely remove any obligation on the part of Britain to come to the defense of Japan in the event of future trouble in the Far East.

To all this the anti-Japanese elements in our own country as well as in the European powers shake their can partly denounced article ten in the Wilson covenant because it was intended to guarantee the territorial integrity and political independence of member states in the league of nations including China, the query is whether enough water has gone over the dam to make President Harding and Secretary Hughes ready to apply the doctrine of article ten to China.

Back of it all is a desire to prevent war. To all this the anti-Japanese elements in our own country as well as in the European powers shake their heads dubiously. What good, say they, is any treaty with Japan. She has adopted, they claim, the German political system. What the foreign office may say is no doubt sincere but what the military party does is the important thing. Feeling that Japan is ruled by a military clique, that the Japanese general staff does what it pleases with the edicts of the Japanese foreign office, just as the German general staff used to ride rough shod over the foreign office and the German Admiralty made a scrap of paper out of the pledges of the German Foreign Secretary, here is little faith on the part of our army and navy folk in the value of any treaty or compact.

Suspicion and Mistrust Main Trouble
Suspicion and mistrust is a hard thing to combat. It runs all through the Japanese-Chinese controversy, as well as our own relations with the Far East. But the United States government cannot officially take cognizance of that mistrust. It is true our army and navy officers who have been in the East constantly talk about it. The truth is, enough confirmation of Japanese militarism has come to Washington to convince the most skeptical that there must be something back of it all and that it behooves America to be prudent.

Jap Foreign Office Has Problem
The Japanese Foreign Office whose good faith is not being questioned has a problem on its hands which overtones here is anxious to make easier. When the Japanese government employs American advisers and American newspaper men as publicity agents, there is no frowning on the part of our officials. No, the hope is that every opportunity will be given the Japanese government and people to see that America is not anxious for war, not anxious for the building up of incessant mistrust and controversy but wants a clean-up of tangles and disputes which have led to the rapid rise of a mischievous Jingo spirit in both Japan and the United States.

Not Entirely a Political Problem
It is not entirely a political problem. For America it has an important financial aspect. Not more than a year ago, Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Company went to China and Japan and with the moral support of our Department of State negotiated an agreement, known as a "consortium" whereby the capitalists of Great Britain, France and the United States agreed to a certain set of principles for financing enterprises in China. It was another step in the open door policy of the United States. Everybody knew England didn't have much capital available and that even though other powers were included in the agreement to make it more impressive, the bankers of Japan and the United States alone were concerned. But capital has not been forthcoming so easily. Why should money flow to a region of the world where political conditions are unsettled?

OFFICIALS BAFFLED BY DOUBLE MURDER

Officials Thursday found themselves still battling with the mysterious circumstances surrounding the tragic death of John W. Newman, married, and the father of three children, and pretty Louise Doyle, whose dead bodies were found in an abandoned cottage seven miles north of the city a week ago.

They have run down innumerable clues, but none of a tangible nature have so far been unearthed and the double killing remains unsolved.

The officials are agreed on one thing, the couple were murdered in or near the death cottage. It was learned today that a man, who is out of the city claims he heard three or four shots fired near the cottage on the night of the murder and he will be questioned about this upon his return to the city Saturday. Rumor has it that he saw the flashes of the death-dealing gun.

The officials say they are looking into every possible angle of the affair with the ultimate hope of unraveling it, but have met with very little encouragement. No evidence has so far been found that would substantiate the felicitous clue. No one saw the couple leave the city and their relatives and intimate friends did not learn that they were missing from their homes until after their lives had been snuffed out.

"If Newman had been meeting Miss Doyle we have yet to find a person who ever saw them together," an official said Thursday. "Miss Doyle worked on the first floor of the Excelsior plant and Newman on the second floor and they had no reason to be thrown into each other's company."

Abandoning the robbery motive, all of the officials have agreed on the theory of revenge or jealousy. One theory was advanced today that possibly the couple was murdered on the West Side and the gun-user then, to conceal his crime, drove to the abandoned cottage, where he carried the bodies from the road and hid them.

Another is if this could be true, the murderer must have had a heart, as he could have thrown the bodies in the Scioto river while crossing the Linc-ville bridge.

The grand jury, which convened this afternoon, will investigate the double killing and some new light on it may be thrown before the jury makes its report, possibly on Saturday. There is one thing certain, and that is, all the officials are doing all in their power to fathom the mysterious affair.

They do not place any credence in the theory that Miss Doyle shot Newman and turned the weapon upon herself. They also disbelieve the idea that she and Newman had been going to the abandoned house, contending that any woman has a horror of vacant houses, especially at night, and so far from the city.

One clue after another is being run down, but officials admitted today they were just as far off in having a reasonable solution as they were when the dead bodies were found.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turn Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Advertisement.

CARD FROM THE MAYOR

To The Citizens Of Portsmouth:

Two years ago you did me the high honor of electing me mayor of the splendid city of Portsmouth.

I appreciated then the fine token of your esteem and I am even more sensible now of just what that vote of confidence meant.

The months which intervened have been extra busy ones, bringing their great weight of municipal problems and an unusual array of questions of civil policy.

To each of these, I have given honest and most careful consideration. I have sought the counsel of our citizens irrespective of party, and, while I may have erred at times, my actions have resulted always from sincere conviction.

Indeed, my happiest reflection comes from the voluntary expressions of confidence that continued to come to me from our citizens in all walks of life.

I am seeking the customary second term and sincerely believe that the experience gained in the past two years has fitted me for still more useful service to the city of which we are all so proud.

My platform again must be economy and business method in the city's government. I have no cliques or factions to reward, nor any element of our citizenship to discipline or punish. I believe that the so-styled "City Hall Brand of Politics" has been driven for good from the more progressive and enlightened American municipalities.

Your mayor should be your hired manager — at all times accessible, responsive to the community's best impulses and efficient in conduct of public affairs.

This is my pledge in return for your continued confidence at the election on November 8th.

Sincerely,

WILLIAM N. GABLEMAN,

Mayor

OSCAR HERMS LOSES $10,000 IN HURRICANE

Oscar Herms, former Portsmouth resident, suffered thousands of dollars' losses in the tropical storm that swept northward from Tampa, Fla., last Tuesday. According to letters received by local relatives Mr. and Mrs. Herms and two children were lucky to save their lives although no one was killed in the section in which they lived.

Mr. Herms resides between Port Richey and New Port Richey about 40 miles north of Tampa. This was the first tropical storm experienced by

Mr. Herms since he located in Florida nine years ago. Other severe storms have caused much damage but this was the first storm of this kind in that section. The hurricane caused damage estimated at a million dollars. The entire west coast of Florida felt the effects. In and near the community where Mr. Herms lives church steeples were blown down, roofs torn off and many homes damaged. These are built on the same order as green houses but do not contain glass. He just recently completed a lath house. In these houses he raised flowers, many rare plants, and tropical plants. He is a wholesaler in these plants and many of them were totally destroyed. The orange grove was badly damaged, the crop being destroyed. A number of the old trees some 200 years old, were blown down about the Herms home. A new water system costing $2,000 was badly damaged. Beautiful hedges and shrubbery about the Herms home suffered greatly from the storm. His loss is expected to reach $10,000.

New Ferry Has Battle With Driftwood

The ferryboat H. T. Whitman, which is taking the place of the C. & O. ferry here while it is being overhauled, had a two hour battle with heavy driftwood in the Ohio river this afternoon. Several pieces got wedged in the boat's wheel and the craft drifted down the Ohio below the Selo to before the drift was finally released. The craft was filled with passengers for C. & O. (can No. 2) and they just barely made this train, which was held a short time for them.

Many Complain About No Notice Being Given That Gas Would Be Shut Off

Many homes in the city were endangered by possible gas explosions Wednesday afternoon and evening when the supply of gas was shut off for about ten minutes without notice.

The only notice was in the houses where the housekeeper realized the gas was getting lower all the time. She kept watch on the fire and when it went out turned off the gas. In the homes where gas fires had been left burning and the persons had left to burn all afternoon and maybe all evening there was a possibility of great damage.

In these homes the gas, when it was turned on again, escaped and filled the house with fumes which needed only a match to explode.

There were many complaints last night and today relative to the turning off of the gas without notice of some kind.

The Portsmouth Gas Company's repair crew was working on a high pressure main back of the Lee Truener Company's plant at Ninth and Washington streets, and it was their intention to make repairs without turning off the gas. By cutting down the pressure it was thought that the work could be completed without much inconvenience to the hundreds of consumers but after work was started on the main it was found that the work could not be completed without a complete shut down of the pressure. This was the explanation of the trouble as given at the office of the Portsmouth Gas Company today, officials stating that the complete cutting off of the pressure would not have been made had it not been absolutely necessary.

Driver Has Fortunate Escape When Auto Is Hit By Train At McDermott

A Ford touring car owned by I. C. Clemens, superintendent of the McDermott station, was damaged and the driver, Mr. Clemens, had a narrow escape from serious and probable fatal injuries when the machine was struck by the N. & W. passenger train due at the Portsmouth station about 10:30 a. m. A state police inspector in the machine with Clemens escaped injury by jumping from the machine before it was struck by the train.

The fact that the machine was not on the track and that only the front part of it was over one rail prevented more serious results. Mr. Clemens had driven the machine to the east end of the mill lot to make a turn and in doing so, while backing got one front wheel over one rail of the N. & W. main track. Mr. Clemens did not see or hear the passenger train which came out of the cut just below the mill yard soon for him to get the machine off the rail and out of the path of the engine.

The engine did not carry the machine along, but hit it with sufficient force to toss it to one side of the track, where it turned over.

Mr. Clemens did not have a chance to escape from the wheel and stuck with the machine. He was lucky to escape with minor bruises and a severe shaking up.

The Ford touring car had the front end damaged and the top slightly so. The state police inspector, who completed his work of inspecting boilers at the stone mill and Mr. Clemens was turning the machine around to start for the McDermott railroad station when the accident happened.

An investigation disclosed a three-foot hole in the floor of the mill, and only one row of brick remaining on the outside foundation wall. The other two prisoners were William White, and Fred Holby, of Greenfield, along with Ham and Heid were waiting to be transferred to state prisons, where they were sentenced on burglary charges. Ham and Heid must serve three years in Mansfield Reformatory.

Mr. Krake Will Direct Cantata

Many weeks of strenuous rehearsing under the direction of Foster Krake, community music director, have put the augmented choir in splendid form for their rendition of the beautiful sacred cantata, "Ruth," at the First Presbyterian church, next Sunday afternoon, November 6th, at 4 o'clock.

Mr. Krake's ability as a musical director is by now thoroughly known to Portsmouth, and he has put much time and energy into perfecting the chorus for this splendid cantata. The performance next Sunday afternoon promises to be, indeed, a notable rendition.

The augmented choir includes a number of Portsmouth's best known singers, who have enjoyed to the full the serious work they have been doing in preparing "Ruth" for the public. All are solo voices.

The cantata is a beautiful thing, peculiarly adapted to the harvest season of the year. The choruses are appealing, and the solos cover a wide range of pathos and dramatic power. Mr. Krake, the director, will himself sing the part of Boaz.

After the splendid reception accorded last season to the monthly musical evenings at First Church, it was decided some time ago to change the presentation from evening to the "Vesper Hour," thereby allowing many to hear the music without interfering with their evening worship plans. Those who have been in the habit of attending these musical affairs, will be glad to have their attention called to the change in time: the cantata will begin at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, instead of at 7, as formerly.

Rheumatism for Years Left Him Helpless and Unable to Work—Cured

Mr. James H. Allen, suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times the terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be cured from rheumatism until the accumulated poisons, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the blood and muscles and expelled from the body. With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to those who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of struggling he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. All druggists have been appointed agents for Allen's in the vicinity with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit.—Advertisement.

ASHLAND HI TUNING UP FOR P.H.S.

The Ashland Independent yesterday said:

What is expected to be one of the hardest fought and best played football games of the year will be staged at League Park Saturday between the Ashland Tomcats and Portsmouth High. Although it is reported that the Ohio boys have an exceptional heavy team this year, the Tomcats believe they have a good chance to win. Huntington High defeated the Ohio boys this year by the score of 28 to 0, the same score that the Tomcats were beaten by in a battle with the West Virginians. Coach Stroelmann and his gang of huskies are working hard for this game.

The Tomcats are scheduled for heavy scrimmages tonight and it is expected that several new players will be worked out. It was understood that Portsmouth had several scouts on the field at the Catlettsburg game taking down plays. But this will not hamper the Tomcats, because very few formations were used Saturday, as most any line formation would gain through Catlettsburg's defense. The Tomcats were really surprised at the gains made on the first few plays at last Saturday's game, because they had heard so much of the Gate City line that they expected to hit a brick-wall. The Portsmouth squad will be accompanied by a large number of root-ers to cheer them on to victory.

Tobacco Growers Are Elated

WEST UNION, November 3.—Tobacco growers in southern Ohio are elated over a ruling of the agriculture and livestock loan agency of the war finance corporation that tobacco will be acceptable as security for advances to finance the marketing.

This will enable the Dairley Growers Association to hold tobacco until such time as the officials think it is advisable to sell. Many Ohio farmers are joining the Marketing Association, a Kentucky corporation.

BUREAU HEADS DENY CHARGE OF POLITICS

Editor of the Times: In the editorial column of the Morning Sun, the statement is made that it is being said that "employees of the Bureau of Community Service are using much of their time in campaigning for the Democratic candidate for mayor."

There is no truth in this assertion. Employees of the Bureau are neither spending much of their time campaigning for either or any candidate, and they are strictly adhering to the injunction given to them long ago, to take no part in politics.

The directors and workers of the Bureau further take this opportunity to deny any and all rumors which aim to connect the Bureau with political campaigning.

The aims of the Bureau have always been to take care of the charitable and social activities of the city of Portsmouth and to work with all the public officials who may be in power, and this we shall continue to do.

SAM L. HORCHOW,
President.

Twenty Four Years Ago

The grand concert and ball given by the Silver City band at Kendall's hall was a decided success, both socially and financially.

Jacob Link took charge of the Acme cafe on Chillicothe street, which he bought from Eddie Burns.

Will Kinney killed a 17-pound wild turkey in West Virginia and sent it to his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Reed for their Thanksgiving dinner.

C. S. Freeman, foreman of J. B. Carter's barrel factory on Chillicothe street, was confined to his home by a severe attack of rheumatism.

"Billy" Barber's colored minstrel band, twenty strong, went to Picketon to give a performance in the town hall. Those in the party included "Billy" Barber, John Woods, Will Woods, James Melvin, Will Spears, Charles Scott, Wick Hendricks, John Whitfield, Will Haley, Claude Ross, Ed. Johnson, Sam Scott, Ben Abbott, Henry Dearing, Albert Good, Ben Roth, James Carter, John Austin, Miss Cora Haley, Harry Wilson and "Filly" Jones.

The Portsmouth football team journeyed to Massville and handled the grizzled warriors of that city a beating to the tune of 42 to 0.

Don Horace L. Chapman, who "also ran" for Governor in the recent election, was in the city over night the guest of Mr. Horace Lee. He was there on business pertaining to his coal mines.

Buffany Director Hiram Adams celebrated his sixty-fifth birthday anniversary at his hospitable home in Madison township.

Preferable Profiles.

The left side of your face is more symmetrical than the right, but do you know why? This is perhaps due to the fact that most persons, when they are made to sleep on the right side, which affects the soft bones of the face. Photographers from the left are usually better than views from the right.

Everything But Street Parade

Whoever heard of a circus in November? Why is too late for a thing of this kind, isn't it?

I asked the man on the street—for he knows—but he answered me back rather sharp like: "What do you know about circuses? Folk'll go to 'em any time, if they don't freeze; and this one'll be indoors. Anyhow, it's the very last one of the year, and you want to miss the last chance at anything."

Am I going? I'll say I'm going; and so are a lot of other wise Portsmouth people. Do you think we'll let a good thing like this get by without getting in on it? Guess you don't know Portsmouth, stranger.

When an organization like the First Presbyterian Stephen Mulstey Guild women can get her scouts, and their own husbands, and a live wire crowd like this men's class of Maurice Coe's all enthused and excited, it's going to be some affair. What'd you say if I told you that Sherrard Johnson, in a green gown and A. E. Singleton as a "Roman beauty" would be rivals in a "side show"?

It will be some side show! Earl Hammons, you all know Earl, will exhibit the wiles of a snake charmer; Steve Marsh will be an ideal fat lady and a real contrast to the pygmy Spencer Schwartz. Albert Wegman will keep an eye on the police force, and swing a "dilly" himself, along with O. A. Deltzer, the strong man. Two juveniles, Bobbie Boyd and Jean Marsh will undoubtedly shine as Mr. and Mrs. Tom Thumb. There will be bakers, Earl Cooke and Maurice Cooper.

The "big top" with the hippodrome, will be shown in the gym, and there Fred Hyde, Mr. Harry Wagner and Arnold Evans will put the Boy Scout acrobats through the hoops. There will be such death-defying acts as backbark riding, flying trapeze, tumbling, a darkie and a doctor stunt, and animal acts. The boys have been working hard on their part of the show and promise great things. There will be a clown band—12 count 'em 12.

One of the unique features that stamps class all over the affair will be P. D. Watson and Billie Wertz as organ grinders. There will be no fake about this stunt, as two live monkeys will assist in gathering up the pennies, and a real organ will be in evidence.

Uptown in the Sunday school room, more side-shows will be found, just as exciting, but more leucous in their nature. Two splendid picture shows will be put on, with the following Guild girls as chief actors: Miss Estelle Wertz (star), Mrs. J. T. March, Mrs. Dorothy Page, Mrs. O. J. Decker, Miss Bess Platto and Miss Nora Wilhelm. These plays, Aunt Phoebe Cartwheel Opposed her Niece, a Modern Sweetheart and at last falls a prey to the inevitable, is all the title promises, and the subtitles are equally interesting.

The second show, "Hess and her Three Lovers," a modern mystery play will be given in accordance with the most recent discoveries in stage lighting.

Did you ever see a Punch and Judy show, the real old fashioned kind, that were so popular when father and mother were young? Well, Eleanor Cookman will bring back the fading memories in a real act, using the antique marionettes that many years ago shone in just such an event. This will be well worth the evening's effort to see.

Everybody at a circus is good and hungry on a day's supper will be served at 5:30 o'clock. All the other eatables connected with a circus will be on hand, too, the soda pop, peanuts, popcorn, balls, lollipops and ice cream cones. Every child will have a chance to get a red balloon.

This is a real chance for an enjoyable evening; see the circus meet your friends, make new ones, come with the family, and all for the price of an ordinary movie.

Tax Fight Down To Three Issues

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The tax revision fight in the senate had narrowed down today to three principal issues—the soldier bonus excess profits amendment, the sales tax and the corporation income tax. Senators in charge of the measure thought these would be disposed of in two days and that the bill would be passed by Saturday night at the latest.

Consideration of the revenue measure for committee and individual amendments was concluded last night and Senator Penrose, Pennsylvania, in charge of the bill, hoped to get to the big issues immediately after the senate convened today. Whether the soldiers' bonus or sales tax fight would come first had not been determined.

Each of these issues was expected to be good for the major portion of a day and extended debate was in prospect. Senator Reed, Democratic, Missouri, was to lead the fight for soldiers' bonus, supported by Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, Walsh, of Massachusetts and other Democrats.

Banks Cut Discount Rate

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The Bank of England reduced its rate of discount to five percent from five and one-half percent this morning. The last reduction in the discount rate was made on July 21 last, when it was cut from six percent to five and one-half percent.

Reduction of the rate of discount by the bank of England follows an announcement by the United States Federal Reserve Board yesterday that the discount rate of Federal Reserve Banks in eight districts had been cut.

Novelties and Specialties in John W. Vogel's Show

When John W. Vogel's Black and White Revue comes to the Sun to-night a performance of superior excellence is assured, as Mr. Vogel has spared neither expense nor effort in gathering together a galaxy of star performers who are making a tremendous hit everywhere.

Noted in past years for the surpassing excellence of his productions, Colonel Vogel this year has succeeded in putting out an organization which so far outdistances all competitors in general excellence that comparison is out of the question.

To single out any one of the performers for special mention, would scarcely be fair, as every one is a star in his particular field.

Manager Lee of the Sun, states that he has already had a number of inquiries concerning John W. Vogel's Black and White Revue, and he can assure patrons that they will find it one of the best shows ever seen here. Show at 8:15 p. m.

Farmers Need First Aid

Chairman of Congressional Investigating Committee Tells Plans for Relief

BY NORRIS QUINN

WASHINGTON.—The farming industry in the United States is seriously sick and needs first aid promptly.

That's what the Joint Committee of Agricultural Inquiry will tell Congress when it submits its final report next January. The committee is continuing the investigation it started in June into every phase of American agricultural conditions.

Representative Sydney Anderson of Minnesota, chairman of the committee, says findings of the investigation have blasted popular ideas of the farmer's prosperity.

"Before this investigation started," Anderson said, "everybody thought that 'liquidation' was complete as far as the farming industry was concerned. We've exploded that."

"We've shown that, instead of decreasing, the volume of loans at Federal Reserve Banks in agricultural districts was on the upgrade up to June."

"By the end of this year the farmers will be right back where they were in 1914."

Causes of Trouble
Anderson says these are the causes of agricultural sickness:

ONE—Low prices of the things the farmer sells and high prices of the things he buys.

TWO—Decline in exports especially livestock.

THREE—Dropping off of domestic consumption of farm products.

FOUR—High freight rates.

FIVE—Credit limitations.

Cures for Trouble
The Joint Committee in its January report will recommend these measures to help the farmers:

ONE—Provide the farmer with the same credit facilities as other business men enjoy.

TWO—Permit him to organize his selling power by joining co-operative marketing associations, removing the legacy of prosecution under the Sherman act.

THREE—Give him accurate current agricultural statistics on which he can base his production and marketing.

Relief on Credits
"The trouble with farm credits," Anderson says, is that small local banks in farm communities can't carry the farmer on credit long enough.

"It takes a farmer a year to raise a crop. It takes him two years to raise a steer for the market. His turnover is slower than in other businesses. We could remedy the credit situation by letting the small banks turn the farmer's long-time notes over to farm loan banks and in turn to Federal Reserve Banks and discounting them.

"Thus the farmer would have his long-time loan and the small bank would have the money to put out on short-time loans."

PIMPLES OVER FACE AND NECK

Hard and Red. Itched and Burned. Cuticura Heals.

"Hard, red pimples were scattered over my face and neck. When I got them they hurt so badly that I would have to hold cloths wrung out of cold water to my face. At night they itched and burned so that I could not sleep.

"The trouble lasted about a year. I tried several remedies but none did any good. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using five cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Florence C. Reinwald, R. F. D. 1, Fleming, Ohio.

COURT HOUSE

Mack Exonerated
John Mack, colored, who was arrested the other day for alleged burglarizing the Ezra Allen store on Gull Pike, near the Winard Oil bridge, was dismissed for lack of convincing evidence at his preliminary hearing before Squire William McManes Wednesday.

The state was entered on the night of Oct. 18, and merchandise valued at $200 carried away but the testimony adduced at the hearing failed to connect Mack in any way with the crime.

Wife Seeks Divorce
Nancy Lindeman, 1317 Waller street, charges cruelty and infidelity in her suit for divorce and alimony instituted in Common Pleas court Thursday against Fred Lindeman, painter, whom she married Nov. 16, 1914.

In her bill of complaint filed through Attorneys B. F. Kimble and W. L. Dickey the plaintiff says that Lindeman has assaulted and beaten her and declares that he has a violent temper and has on numerous occasions broken up their furniture, besides, she claims, he has been guilty of misconduct with other women.

The wife secured a temporary injunction restraining the defendant from coming about her home and preventing him from molesting her in any manner until the case can be heard on its merits.

Damage Suit Being Heard
Trial of the damage suit of E. W. Purdy and the Freeman's Insurance company against the Norfolk and Western Railway company begun before Judge Thomas and a jury in Common Pleas court Thursday morning.

The suit is an echo of a fire which occurred last December when the Purdy Bros' flour mill and the home of E. W. Purdy at Leesville were destroyed.

The plaintiffs claimed that the fire was started by coals of fire from a passing locomotive and Purdy sued for the loss of his home and contents valued at $8,000. The defense denied the claim and contended that the railroad company did not originate the blaze and it was on this issue that the case mainly hinged.

The jury which is hearing the case is composed of three women and nine men as follows: John Dwyer, Lem Kline Reed, E. D. Robinson, Louis Schoettle, Thomas Thompson, C. A. Zull, G. Wash Williams, Clara Walker, Edna Streich, Edmund Krieger, S. E. Samsen and L. W. Baker.

Attorneys G. E. Hibbey, Columbus, and E. G. Millar, of this city, represent the plaintiff and Attorneys Barton and Dannon for the railway company.

Grand Jury Convened
The grand jury was convened in special session at one o'clock Thursday by Judge Thomas in Common Pleas court. The court did not further charge the jury and the probers immediately started its grid.

The jury was called back for service at this time in order to clean up a number of cases on the criminal dock which accumulated since the last investigation.

More than fifty witnesses have already been subpoenaed to appear before the probers and it is expected that the session will extend over a couple of days.

RIDICULOUS CHARGES

THE local republican organization, through the Morning Sun, charges that two of the cities most worthy civic organizations, the Chamber of Commerce and the Bureau of Community Service, are being used by their managers to further the candidacy of Mayor Gableman, and to defeat George E. Matthews, the republican candidate for mayor. This was all news to us, and generally we aim to be well posted on what is going on in political circles. We do not believe any such charges because we know the gentlemen at the head of these activities, and rightly exercise their personal duties as citizens, we do not believe they would inject, or countenance the injection of their organizations, as such, into political or factional contests.

Charges of such action is a gross reflection upon the intelligence of the men involved.

We imagine that when the matter is sifted down, it will be found that an excitable republican candidate has been seeing things again, has conjured up in his own mind a mare's nest of activities, and exploded, as usual, without first making an investigation. However that is a matter for the Chamber of Commerce and the Bureau of Community Service to settle with The Sun and the candidates it is supporting.

We are chiefly interested because if Mr. Matthews should be elected mayor of Portsmouth next Tuesday, we feel certain the town is in for succession of daily thrills for the two years beginning January 1st, 1922. There will be something new bursting out of the mayor's office, with a loud explosion as a forerunner, every hour of the day.

WHAT WAS THE REASON?

THERE was a gathering of republican leaders the other night at a local restaurant to congratulate an active republican leader upon the honor that had just been conferred upon him by the president of the United States, and to present him with a fine traveling bag, as a token of esteem. In the list of published guests at this reception to John F. Eckhart, republican leader and just honored with high recognition, we fail to find the name of Mr. George E. Matthews, candidate for mayor on the republican ticket.

Why was not Mr. Matthews there? Was it not because as the gentleman from Battle Creek would say, "There's A Reason"?

WHAT ABOUT IT?

THE Morning Sun says Mayor Gableman made the town a nation wide laughing stock by his famous closing up order a year ago. Personally we never approved of this order and we think now, as we thought then, that it was a mistake. But, speaking of laughing stocks, what about a gentleman who represented Scioto county in the legislature? Did not he keep Scioto county in unenviable limelight continually by the forceful language he used, even in the most ordinary debates?

READ WATER WORKS STATEMENT

On another page Mayor Gableman devotes much space to the city water works, and his management of water works affairs. It is a plain, honest statement of conditions as he sees them, and shows how he has labored to place the water works management on a sound, conservative business basis. We urge the voters to read this statement.

BRAINS

TIME was when it was maintained that the reason women were mentally inferior to men was because women's brains weighed less than men's. In this way we once accounted for a good many of woman's alleged shortcomings. Whatever we did not understand and could not explain in any other way was accounted for by a shortage of weight in her brains.

Today there are many people who believe that at least at school age girls are cleverer than boys. There may be very complex reasons for this which the scientist could reveal if he cared to; but a much shorter way out of the difficulty has been found by a woman phenologist, in England, who rejects the complicated proof in favor of something much simpler.

She maintains that up to a certain age girls are brighter than boys because the girl's head grows faster than the boy's. More particularly it is the breadth of the head that counts. We are told that girls are apt to be round headed and boys long headed. This so-called expert consoles the boys, however, with the information that later on in life boys' heads begin to widen.

Further investigation may find more convincing proof for this contention than it has now. Or we may have to do what we did in the case of the belief in the weight of the brain—discard it altogether. Until such time comes, however, there is one thing which all the owners of heads will do well to remember.

For the proper development of the intellect it is more important to make good use of one's brains, than to rely for success on their weight or on the size or shape of the head.

OF SUCH ARE THEY MADE

ANOTHER crisis in world affairs has effulged and blinked out all in a couple of days.

But it was "some" crisis while it lasted. Thrones tottered and governments wobbled, to say nothing of the worse horror of the bears making a raid on Wall Street.

Think of it! An ex-ruler appears suddenly in Hungary and proclaims himself restored to his ancient domain. Two or three regiments gather about him and he marches on to the capital. A band meets him. A tremendous and frightful battle rages, for perhaps, fifteen minutes. Then the adherents of the monarchy take flight, led by their noble lord. The casualties are 120 and the next day the pretender and his queen are captured. So the bit of opera bouffe ends and the world sinks back to await another terrible crisis and the bears take their profits.

It is a great game and has never lost its thrill since the nursery days when the king of Flanders marched up the hill and then marched back again.

New-York-Day-By-Day

NEW YORK, November 3.—Greenwich Village is preparing to move to Paris. Bumper, gallant, poet, theatrical producer and "cosmic cosmopolite" is to head the invasion. "Give us liberty or give us Paris," is the glad cry of the invaders. Vols! Quelle gaul! Quelle bull!

Batikmakers, brass hammerers, ten-room quoniam and the army of bobbed hair and unwashed are preparing to leave the village flat. The advance guard has all ready arrived in Paris and is established in the Latin quarter.

They are even publishing an art magazine within the shadow of the Pantheon called "The Gargyle" with its slogan to American serious thinkers "You must come over!"

Greenwich Village is tired of American scolding and of Volstead defiance. They want to descend on Paris with a bottle of cognac in each hand and shout from the heights of Montparnasse "We are here, Victor Hugo!"

It is the fashion for highly paid writers to spoof and gibe all things Bohemian. That is what hurts, Irvin Cobb, Samuel Merwin and a dozen more take a fling every chance they get in that weekly organ of the light-thinkers of Main street.

For years many of the luminous halos of the village have lived from the proceeds of those monthly costume balls, where ladies with a thin coating of shellac attempt to bolster up freedom for the artistic intelligentsia.

The police have now stopped these dances. Coffee houses and bawlers de junk must close at eleven. Short haired girls in smocks must smoke behind fans. Long haired attic dreamers must go home at midnight and toss feverishly in fits of mental stagnation.

Up above the Winter Garden, on Broadway the offest thing in shoe shops or booteries has been opened. It is decorated with Japanese vases and hangings. Customers place their feet on teakwood foot rests. Inlaid with pearl. The store is opened at night and the clerks wear correct evening dress.

The South Sea Isle, a midnight supper club is to open on West 45th street. Frederic O'Brien, author of "White Shadows in the South Seas" is superintending the decorations in the place. Gilda Gray, the shimmey queen, was also to taught some South Sea dances by O'Brien and she will shake a wicked shredded wheat skirt there nightly as the super attraction. The sanctuary will be scenically and shimmically correct. Gil Boag, former New York newspaper man, who has the largest chain of restaurants and dancing places in town is sponsor for the new place. The club will be restricted to membership only.

Here's an old slant on human nature. At the Museum of Natural History there is a seismograph. Visitors will hurry along but when they come to it they stop and wait for five or ten minutes. If its needle moves to record an earthquake, they want to be there.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

What of the Armament Conference? Man loves power and protection above all things—power to live in comfort, provide for his family, and gratify his tastes, protection from want, from discomfort, and from assaults by the lawless. He seeks wealth because money and property yield great returns in both power and protection under our civilization. The state protects him in the possession of his property and taxes him for the expenses of holding the disorderly within the law through fear of punishment.

Nations are peoples organized for government. They have found it necessary to have both power and wealth to function properly—power to resist attack from lawless men within and from national enemies without, wealth to provide prudent defenses and weapons to resist successfully assaults upon national authority.

A national government is but the concentrated power and property of its people, organized for both offense and defense against all enterprises which may seek to destroy the wealth and power of its people and itself. We have thus rehearsed the facts about human nature and its individual and organized love of power and protection which will control the motives and the influences in and about the coming international conference for the limitation of armaments.

AINT IT A GRAND AND GLORIOUS FEELING—BY BRIGGS

Slightly Misunderstood

"My boy," said the minister, "do you know the meaning of energy and enterprise?"

"No, sir," answered Freddy, "I don't believe I do."

"Well, I'll tell you. One of the richest men in the world came to this city without a shirt to his back and now he has millions."

Freddy gazed at the clergyman in open-eyed amazement. "Millions?" he asked. "Why, how many of them can be wear at one time?"

What's the Use Of—Non-refillable bottles? The three-mile limit? Cold water banquets? Keys to the city? Wartime oratory? General Orders? German marks? Corkscrews? Slacks? Horcille? Steins? Hope?

A Money Question A somewhat impetuous young fellow rashly engaged himself to a charming young thing, who, shortly after the engagement had subsided, began to evince doubts. Said she:

"How long, dearie, do you think we shall have to be engaged?"

"Well, sweetheart," said the young man, cheerily, "I have enough money to last for six months, I think."

Poor Santa Mother—Whoever taught you to use that dreadful word? Tommy—Santa Claus, mamma.

Mother—Santa Claus? Tommy—Yes, mamma, when he fell over a chair in my bedroom on Christmas eve.

Yea, Very Strange "Tis a strange world," mused the grocer.

"How's that?" asked the old fogey. "Everybody praises economy and everybody lutes a tight wad," replied the grocer.

High and Low Magistrate—"Did I understand you to say that the parties used high words?"

Police Witness—"Their voices were pitched rather high, sir, but the words used were extremely low."
